A violent tornado swept over the south part of Beach fills, Oldo, as the 10th inst. aprenting trees, prostrating forces and whiring rails about like straws. The Ray Mr. Raydal of Celumbus, returning from the faceral of his nother at R chileld, together with a son of Gon. Oviatt, was set in a buggy, exposed to the full fury of the storm. The buggy was dashed against a stump and broken. A best belonging to Mr. Hattleson, was struck by lightning and with its confount entirely dastroyed.

On Monday afternoon, 7th inst., says The Founterille Nort Carchinian, we had quite a hail-storm in this place and with first. In this place the stones that fell were not very large, about the size of pigeon eggs, but in the neighborhood of Beaver Creek Factory the stones were much before Greek Return Creek Factory the stones were much larger. Corn stalks were out down and the folder riddled, rate-melous bursted open, &c. We saw a stalk of corn which had been completely shivered by the hall, and were informed that some twenty acre fields were injured in like manuer. The most of the cloud appeared to pass to the court of the injury does we are not informed.

The brief rain storm of Sunday afternoon at Boston, ex-tended to most of the neighboring towns, where it was noth needed, the corn and potatoes suffering much for wastof rain. In Newton, Mass., the rain was accompa-ned by hall. In Lexington and Salem there was no rain. At West Cambridge there was a copious shower. At At West Cambridge there was a copious shower. MAIL GLEANINGS.

The Banger Mercury of the lith says that a watch was handed into the store of John Stevens & Co., one of our jeweler, having been forwarded by mail from Penascola, Florida, for repairs. The bill for repairs here is $2; the portage cach way is twenty cents. A jeweller in Penascola wanted $8 for the work, and being the only one of the trade in the place, thought to extort that amount; but the Yankee was too much for him.

Shift-Building* in Honores.

Business is exceedingly dull at the Hoboken ship-yards.

Capes & Allison have had their yard closed for many weeks, and there is a possibility that they will not resume business till fall. The increase in the cost of timber and labor, and the low rates at which contracts were taken by the builders, it is said, have almost ruined the different times. There is but one vessel building, and ant is a schooner in the yard of Isaac C. Smith & Son. She is partly framed, and will be of the following dimensions: Length on deck. 10 feet; breadth of beam, 29; depth of

The new steamer Forest City, built expressly for the above named company, has commenced her regular trips. She is a splendid boat. Her keel was laid at the yard of it. Englis at New-York, in February last, and she has been built under the strict supervision of Capt. John B.

Her mechinery was manufactured at the Neptune works, and appears to tok nothing in finish and massiveness. The steamer measures 940 tuns, is 244 feet long over all, has 124 feet begin of hold, and can comfortably accommodate 350 sengers, although she can take many more. She is manufact by Capt. Mr. William Fuller, who was the pilot on board the U. & steamer San Jacinte during her run down the river, gives the following particulars: She left the Point House of Thursday morning, at 20 minutes past 5 o'clock, and racked the Capes at 41 o'clock P. M. During the run abostopped a whole hour to oil and key up, so as to be fully in order for going to sea. The last hour, between Brandy wine Light and the Capes, she ran 13 miles, and her performance was in every respect most satisfactory. Her engineers were in high spirits, so satisfied were they with the machinery, and anticipated a short run to the Balik. FLOWERS.-The world is full of flowers-in the wools, on the wild prairies of the West, "waving like a sea of flowers"—in the meadow—on the old hills of the pasture-creeping along the stone wall-climbing the rocksliving on trees, are the wild flowers, abounding everywhere-everywhere sending forth their fragrance free as the morning air. Bottled edors are not sold by nature at the rate of a hundred scents for one—they are free. In civilized countries, wherever high degrees of cultivated civilised countries, wherever high degrees of cultivated teste abound, flowers are planted in gardens, parterres, front yards, and back yards, all around the house, to gladden the eye and please the olfactory nerves. Then, again what thousands of dollars are expended upon hotconse conservatories, forcing Nature to produce flowers out of place and out of season, that we may be gratified with their sight at all times of the year—on our mantlepiece, in our window, everywhere, in-doors or out, wherever we can find a spot to set a little pot, with its little stem and single bud. But that bud will bring a flower that flower will bring a smile, a joy, a holy, happy feel-ing, and perhaps a prayer of thanksgiving to Him who opened that bud, and spread its beauty and fragrance abroad for the great, good, glorious gift of flowers.

Right across the street from where we write this paragraph

there is a whole row of flower-pots in a window-seven of them-we know the number well, for we have counted them over and over many a time; and they are tended by a fair hand, guided-we have no doubt of that-by a good heart, who snatches a moment from her daily toil—she is a bookbinder's girl—to tend her favorite flowers. Well we only hope they gladden her heart as much as they please our eyes. They are blooming now right opposite our window. We have often watched a delicate band as it comes out to pour a little water in the pots or take one of them into the room to set on her table where she works, but we have never seen her face—that remained con-cealed behind the painted opaque glass; but we fancy how it looks-that it is sweet as her flowers.

Here son ebody threws down the paper and exclaims: "Oh pshaw! what stuff about a thing nobody cares for." And he threw down the paper in utter disgust, and picked up-" the account of Com. Hollins's destruction of the bottle-nosed sharks at Boreland Bay." He was a snubnesed bottle-holding lover of a free fight. He did n't love flowers.

"Bah, at this nonsense about flowers-the idea of pray ing over a flower. It is blasphemous.'

That expression came from a tall, dark haired, black eyed, sallow skinned and sunken checked Church member, who has found himself lately very "short" in "New-York "and Haven." "A rose by any other name would smell "as sweet" to him. He don't like flowers. He never prayed ever a flower. Others have. Lowell Mason prayed the other night over a flower-heartily, sincerely thanking God for the gift of flowers, and most particularly that he had planted a garden of them in one of the most descried, dark wilderness places in this city. Do you think if that man is not ashamed to thank God for such a gift, that you need be.
"Who gave him the flowers?"

The question implies that "perhaps it was on account "of the doner." So it was. But the gift came not from the rich or high born, nor was the gift of much value; it was simply a little boquet of artificial flowers—very beau, tiful, to be sure, and neatly arranged; and those who made and gave them simply said to the friend who took them, Teli Mr. Mason we sent them."

Who is "we" that the old man should have been obliged to wipe away a tear that came down his cheek as he gazed upon that little boquet and said, " Is it pos-"sible?" And then he said to the friend who gave it to him, "I have had presents of valuable books, watches and chains, and all sorts of testimonials of appreciation of my labors, but never one that touched my heart like this. Let us thank God, who has instilled into the hearts of men and women the sweetness of nature's flowers, till they have gone down into the Five Points "of New-York and planted there a garden-a moral gar-"den-that spreads its fragrance abroad over that region "of destitution. And let us thank Him for sending that good lady [Mrs. Van Valer] to teach those poor neglected girls, who are gathered in the House of Industry "how to ply their little fingers with ready skill, and out of little bits of wire, paper, cloth and paste, to so counterfeit nature in the formation of these beautiful flowers that I cannot but weep and bless God that he is raising up friends of the poor, to make desert places blossor like a rose, and send forth fragrance like the tree of "beaven. I will go to morrow to their workshop, and if I cannot spuif their fragrance, as in the gardens of the rich, I can feast my eyes upon the sight of flowers, while my heart will glow with gratitude to see this new source of industry for the poor girls of the City who perish for lack of productive industry. Let us thank "God, too, for the moral influence of flowers. How can "those whose fingers, minds, hearts, souls, are engaged this boquet is only beautiful to the eye, but that it is perfumeless. Sir, it smells-not of the reeking filth of rum-debased dens of pollution in the Sixth Ward, though it came from that locality, but it smells, Sir, of the gardens of paradise. Tell them—"we"—who sent "it—no, I will go te morrow and tell them myself how their little token of remembrance has been received-"how I appreciate it as a gift of promise of precious "gifts in store for them."

Reader, did you ever see artificial flowers made? No.

Then go and see, and then say, "Bah, at this nonsense

"about flowers"—if you can.

We have been there—we have seen those nimble fingers at work, picking a green leaf from this dish, and a pink one from that, or a white one from another; a bud here and a stem there; making a stem or vine of cloth and wire, and oining all together to make a flower that in all but fragrance-and now we are taught that it has that-might rival the one that bloomed by the garden-wall. This is a new trade for the children of the House of Industry, which they are just learning-a lady having furnished the materials and instructor for a month's tuition, and then after this short apprenticeship they will work for wages-low to be sure, like all of woman's wages, but better than making shirts at six cents a-piece, and far better than " nothing to "do." . And why should not all this work of making artificial flowers be done in this country? Do you—we mean you, sir, with your gray hairs of wisdom, peering through your gold frame spectacles, at the news, while your daughter is buying $5 worth of wreaths for her new hat de you know how much a few thousand just such unwise people as you pay to foreign countries for those flowers, e at the same time you are publicly supporting 5,000 almost idle paupers and criminals, and privately twice as many by charity? We cannot state the amount, because our tables of imports cover it up under the nead of "un enumerated articles." The figures, if we could give them, would no doubt astonish many who wonder that so many females are suffering or sinning for want of just such work as this manufacture of flowers of cloth, paper or wax, would give them, if we had wisdom enough to let those who live upon American soil work for Americanan people. instead of employing the women and little girls of Paris, to do the work that might just as well be done by the same class of laborers in New-York. It is an absurd policy that feeds the poor of other countries, while our own are starying at home. How many thousands of the women and children of this City who are steeped in poverty, or sewing for a bare subsistence, could be well fed and clothed out of the wages of those who make the artificial flowers

NEW-YORK TRADE SALE .- The Sixtieth New-York Trade Sale of Books, Stereotype Plates, &c., by Bangs, Brother & Co., was commenced at 9 o'clock yesterday morning at the Trade Sale RoomssNo. 13 Park-sold in this metropolis every year?

At the opening of the sale there was rather a thin attendance, although as the day advanced the saleroom filled up, and in the afternoon about one hundred or more buyers were present. The bidding was not very lively, and a large number of standard works from the press of Appleton & Co. were knocked down at a low figure.

WHAT IS OMNIBUS FARE !- There is a very general complaint of an almost universal practice among stage drivers charging seven cents. It is a mean little piece of cheating, but it all comes of the absurdities of our sixpenny currency. The regular fare is 61 CENTS, and this gives the driver a very small ground of excuse when a quarter is handed him of only giving back 18 cents, which we have never failed to have practiced upon us, and always put up with without grumbling, as a just infletion for our carelessness in not having the right change always ready; but some of our friends coinclain of it as a dis-borest piece of shaving for less than a penny. This can easily be obvisted, if we should ever get a real Risform Common Council, by an ordinance fixing the maxi urm of all omnibus fares the same as on the railroads—five cents.

CRUELTY TO A HORSE.-Early yesterday morning a herse was disabled at the corner of Broadway and Barclay-st., his leg being broken by a passing butcher's cart. All day long the poor animal was allowed to remain there standing upon three legs and unable to move. Last night the attention of several gentlemen was arrested by a crowd of mischievous boys collected around him, tantalizing and forcing him to hobble along for their gratification. Two gentlemen went to the Chief's Office to inquire if nothing could be done for the helpless animal, but were informed by the Captain of the Third District Police that it was the business of the City Inspector to attend to his removal, and that he had been notified of the fact, but had done nothing. Can the owner of that desorted, helpless animal, ever look an honest horse in the face again

Last evening about 5 o'clock, as the freight train of the Hudson River Railroad Company was passing at the cor-ner of Washington and Canal-sts., a little fellow named Robert McCann, seven years of age, living at No. 139 Tenth-av., who was riding on the ears with other boys, jumped off. He fell under the ears; both his legs were horribly crushed, and one of them was severed from his body. He was taken to the New-York Hospital, where be lingered until 8 o'clock, when he died. An inquest will be held to-day.

FATAL ACCIDENT ON THE HUDSON RIVER RAILROAD .-

ANOTHER BODY FOUND .- Coroner Hilton held an inquest upon the body of an unknown female, found in the North River, foot of One Hundred and Fifty-second-at., supposed to be that of a Miss Burns, of Brooklyn, who was drowned one week ago by the swamping of a row boat, crossing from Fort Lee to Carmansville. She appears to be about is years of age, about five feet five inches in hight, fair complexion, with light brown hair. Had on a brown muslin shirred hat, thin white muslin dress, with a small red raised figure, white stockings, brown gat-ters, black not mits and two gold rings on her right forefinger-one with one green and two red, and the other with several crystal stones in it. A piece of the dress, and rings can be seen at the Coroner's office.

CHALLENGE TO FIGHT A DUEL .-- A difficulty recently occurred between two French gentlemen, named Alphoase Diffot, of No. 98 Waverley-place; and Alfred Mullot, of mer gentleman, while walking in Washington-square, was accosted by a Captain Vanneau, of No. 38 Walker-st., who, in the name of M. Muliot, challenged him to fight a duel with him. Mr. Dillot declined the honor, but the Captain insisted upon it, and informed him that unless he was at a certain place, which he named, with his second on the following morning, he would expose him &c. Mr. Diflot fearing that an assault was intended, yesterday proferred a complaint before Justice Clark, and a warrant was issued for the arrest of the two gentlemen. Captain V. appeared before the magistrate, and a hearing in the matter will take place to-day.

ACCIDENTALLY SHOT AND KILLED .- Coroner Wil helm yesterday held an inquest at the New-York Hospital apon the body of Thomas Bartram, a native of Eugland, 34 years of age, who died from the effects of a pistol shot wound in the back. It appears that on the 7th inst. deceased was sitting in front of his residence, No. 108 Mulberry-st., when a pistol was fired by Cornelius J. Quackenbush of No. 160 Hammond-st. at a rat which was on a door-sill about forty feet from the deceased. The ball from the pistol struck a paving stone and glanced off, entering the back of deceased, inflicting a wound which proved fatal. The Jury of inquest rendered the following verdict: "That deceased came to his death "from the effect of a pistol shot, the pistol being in the hands of Cornelius J. Quackenbush. The Jury furthe are satisfied that he had no intention to take the life of "deceased, or to injure him in any way." Upon the rendition of the verdic: the Coroner ordered Mr. Quackenbush to find bail in $500 to appear when called for.

FATAL BURNING FLUID ACCIDENT .- Coroner Wilhelm esterday held an inquest upon the body of Eliza Waters, domestic in the family of Mrs. S. B. Bradford, at No. 73 Hudson-st., who, while filling a fluid lamp when lighted, on Monday evening, was dreadfully burned, her clothes having taken fire from the lamp, which exploded. Mr. Chas. V. Lewis, residing in the house, made an effort to extinguish the flames, but his own clothes took fire from those of the deceased, and in her fright she dragged him down a flight of stairs. The flames were finally extin guished, and the sufferer was conveyed to the N. Y. Hospital, where she died soon afterward. She was a native of Ireland, 24 years of age.

BRUTAL ASSAULT ON AN AGED SAILOR .- Charles Rogers, a boarding-house keeper at No. 15 Hamilton-st. was yesterday arrested charged with having on Sanday last brutally kicked and beaten an aged sailor who was boarding at his house, and who, he said, owed him $1 50. The old man's lower jaw was fractured in two places, and he was otherwise severely injured by the kicks inflicted upon him by Rogers. He was conveyed to the New-York Hospital, and Rogers was locked up by Justice Clark.

Drap .- Nicholas Cook, the sailor who is alleged to have been cruelly beaten and kicked by the mate of the ship Yorkshire on her last passage from Liverpool, died yesterday at the New-York Hospital from his injuries. An inquest will be held upon the body to-day. A complaint was yesterday preferred against the perpetrator of the outrage before the United States Court, and the matter will there be investigated.

We are assured by most respectable and responsible parties that the stories told by Nicholas Cook, a sea man brought to the New-York Hospital, of abuse from the captain of the packet ship Yorkshire, have no foundstion in truth; that the man was not abused, did his duty well, and left the ship in usual health.

THE LATE PATAL STAGE ACCIDENT .- Coroner Hilton yesterday held an inquest at No. 566 Grand-st. upon the body of Win. H. Vaught, the lad who was run over and killed on Monday morning at the corner of Chatham-st. and Tryen-row. It was in evidence that stage No. 580 of the First-av. line was the vehicle that ran over the deceased, and that the occurrence was unavoidable by the driver, and therefore accidental. Mr. Beni, Andrews, one of the proprietors of the line, was present during the inquisition, and offered to defray the funeral expenses of the deceased. The Jury rendered a verdict of accidental death.

COURT OF COMMON FLEAS—AT CRAMBERS.—Before Judge Daly.

SUIT FOR DIVORCE.

Walker agt. Walker.

This case was tried, it will be recollected, a short time ago, when the jury did not agree. It is to be tried, it would seem, again. One of the charges is that Mr. Walker, the night he was brought from New-Brunswick, remained, in custody of the officers, at a house of ill fame in Mercer-st., and passed the night with a female there. In the complaint a particular number was stated, and also the name of a party keeping the house. Messrs. Martin, Strong and Smith, counsel for Mrs. Walker, moved yesterday to amend the complaint by investing after the words "in the house" the words, "strate in Mercer-st., between Grand and Spring-sts, upon the door or plate "of which house there was in July, 1850, the name of "White, Wystt, Wile, or Cooke, as the occupant or keeper of such, the number of which house is auknown to plaintiff," and to strike out the words, "known as No. 113 "Mercer-st., in the City of New-York." This was opposed by Messrs. Busteed and Churchill, counse for Mr. Walker, who insisted that plaintiff had failed in the proof on the first trial and this would be making a new issue. The Courtheld, that the code permis amendment of a complaint on any important point, Mr. Busteed thought if an smendment were allowed it should be on payment of the costs of the first trial. The Court allowed the amendment on the payment of $10 costs, plaintiff stipulating not to require any new answer.

TUESDAY, Aug. 15-P. M. The transactions at the Stock Board this morning were to considerable extent, but the tendency of prices is still downward. The bears appear to have control of the market, with but little resistance from the bulls. A considera-ble portion of the transactions are for the closing of con-tracis. Nearly every description of fancy shows a decline from vesterday. Erie closed at 46], a decline of 1 P ceat; Reading was 82; Camberland declined | P cent : Nics-rague, | P cent: Hadson River 1 P cent: Contral was heavy at 21% a decline of 1 P cent ; Canton has been rather active for a day or two at 22. The Western Roads are steady. Income Bonds sold at 82, and Eries of 1863 at 63. Illinois Bonds were a trifle lower and sold at 881. A small sale of Government 6s, 1868, was made at 117; 1867 at 1164; 1862 at 112. Kentucky 64 sold at 105. The general impression appears to be that there can be no important improvement in the Steek market until the general resumption of business in September.

There was no second ression of the Board to-day, in order to enable members to attend the meeting of the tockholders of the Harlem Railroad Co. In Exchange there was a moderate business doing in

The Bank statement published this morning had some infinence upon the Stock Board. The loss of over $1,890,-000 in specie in two weeks, with no contraction of loans, was considered as indicating that the banks must begin to take in sail. This movement, indeed, has already commenced, and one or two banks notified to-day nearly all their call loans, which however, were not to a very great extent. These institutions have a sufficient line of specio at present; they only fear a further drain. In the present abundance of money, however, and the contracted state of street engagements, it is not anticipated that good borrowers will find any difficulty in supplying their wants. Paper is more abundant in the street, the wants of merhants being in advance of bank discounts. First-class names go at 10@12 P cent. Auctioneers' paper is also more abundant, as many importers are obtaining advances on their stocks.

Ever since Hartford bought that 50 shares York Central at 135, The Times of that city has been ex-cessively exercised in regard to the management of our rail-roads and the statements of the New-York papers in regard to them. Its last effort in relation to the arrangement recently made by the Eric Company to pay its floating debt and other liabilities, contains more than the usual quantity of malignity, blunders and falsehoods. However, its of no consequence, although Brown Brothers & Co., and the Directors of the Road would feel awful bad if they thould happen to see the article.

The Exchanges at the Clearing-House were $15,330,892.

A telegraphic dispatch from Robert J. Walker and Thomas Butler King, dated Austin, Texas, 14th August, tates that the Governor of the State of Texas has awarded to them, as representatives of the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company, the contract for building the Railroad from the Eastern boundary of Texas to the fown of El Paso on the Rio Grande, through the whole State, a distance of eight hundred miles. Under this contract, by the terms of the charter, they will be entitled to twenty sections of land, of six hundred and forty acres each, for every mile of read, which will make the large aggregate of 10,240,000 seres of land. A deposite of $300,000 is remired by the charter from the contractors, as security for e completion of the road. The contradictory advices from the West in regard to the Indiana Banks have no effect in Wall-st., where the brokers are buying the notes of all the Banks at the pre-vious rate, 12 4 cent. The trouble seems to be a simple quarrel between the Banks and the brokers of Cincinnat upon the question of tribute. The Convention of the four great East and West Raillines was held at the St. Nicholas last night.

Erie was represented by Mesers. Ramsdell and McCallam Robinson and Drew; the Hudson River informally by Mr. Nelson Robinson; the New-York Central by Messra. Corning, Richmond, Shedell, Yates and Vibbard; the Pennsylvania Central by Messrs. Thompson (President) and Haupt (Superintendent;) the Baltimore and Ohio by Mesers. Harrison (President) and Doane (Superintendent;) the Baltimore and Wilmington by its Superintendent; the People's Line, Hudson River, by Com. Newton. The moeting was held for the purpose of agreeing upon some harmo-nious action in regard to fares, speed, &c., and the dis-cussion of the various questions brought up was of the mest harmonious character. The meeting, after a long ecssion, adjourned to meet to-morrow morning, without decisive action, but with a general understanding that resolutions would then be adopted revising and equalizing the rates of freight and passenger charges, the speed of trains, the extent of service and the system of free passes. The increase of charges will be about 10 per cent., the decrease of speed about 7 per cent., and of service about 20 per cent., with a materia iuction of the present latitude of dead-heading. Auother important point agreed upon was the entire abrogation of the system of runners and agents, which has hereto fore been a very expensive feature in the operating ex-penses of our two great routes to the West. The feeling the meeting was, without exception, of the most con atory character and the effect upon the net earnings of the various roads must be very marked.

The action of the stockholders of the Harlem Road at the meeting to-day will have a favorable effect in the street and tend much to restore confidence. The example will probably be followed by the New-Haven stockholders. If the precedent be fully established that corporations will make themselves responsible in such cases of fraud, it will produce more stringent measures to protect themselves against fraud, and will produce more willingness on the pert of the public to invest in stocks and bonds. At the meeting to-day Mr. William C. Wetmore presided, and Mesers. E. D. Stanton and A. M. Ferris acted as Score-

The proceedings commenced by Mr. D. E. Wheeler reading the following report from Mr. Nicholas Dean, who had been appointed by the Committee of Stockhelders to examine the books, and Mr. W. stated that they were satisfied he had performed his arduous duties in a most satisfactory manner:

The undersigned, a committee appointed at a recent meeting of the stockholders of "The New-York and "Harlem Railroad Company," to examine into the affairs of that Company, respectfully

That on entering on the duty so assigned to them, and after an interchange of thought and opinion, it was considered that the investigation demanded could be more thoroughly, systematically and effectively made by a single competent individual than if attempted by the joint of your committee. Under this impression they ascured the services of Nicholas Dean, Eq., a well known citizen, whose familiarity with accounts, and general character and standing, as well as the numerous marks of public confidence which he has heretofore received, would go far to satisfy the stockholders and the public of the truth and reliableness of any statements be might make. A resolution was passed by the committee (a copy of which is annexed, directing the specific character of these inquiries, and under which incomit is a copy of which is annexed, directing the specific character of these inquiries, and under which incomit is a composite to the various tables or schedules here with presented, and marked Nos. one to eight instinuive. Considering the magnitude and intrincey of the company's business, and the brief period in which the work must of necessity be done, your committee cannot be, hope that the exhibits will be as satisfactory to the stockholders as they are to the committee.

As all the schedules referred to will be read, your committee do not think it necessary in this place to go into a detailed recital of their several contents, and will only here premark that all the books and extended excitions and the present contents, and will only here premark that all the books and extended excitions and the premark that all the peaks and extended excitions.
